

Pairs of Poems

By pairing poems about similar themes written at different points in time over a period of four years, Pairs of Poems provides a variety of perspectives on topics as diverse as nature, love, history, and politics.

A collection of forty-four poems including some never before published, Pairs of Poems examines various facets of our relationships with the world, and the people, around us. Published by Uncials Press, Pairs of Poems was named #3 in the Preditors & Editors Readers Poll for poems published in 2008.

With an often politically satiric voice, Pairs of Poems embraces freeways and oceans, warehouse stores and forests, urban parks and picketers. In these twenty-two pairings, F.I. Goldhaber's images move easily from the domestic to the celestial, from a cat's small nose-smudges left on a window to the moon 'marked with sleep lines' at dawn. This collection is the candid record of a seasoned writer ...

Poet Paulann Petersen
Author of The Wild Awake and Blood-Silk

The title Pairs of Poems gives the reader the key to enjoying this book. Each numbered section features two poems about similar themes written in different moods. I love the poet's use of colorful language and the accessibility of the ideas to even a non-poet like me. The poet writes with equal pathos and sly humor about our current political morass and nature.

Marlene Howard
Co-owner/publisher Media Weavers press
Co-founder Oregon Writers Colony