FAMILY BED

FULL HOUSE

As the days grow colder,
one by one another lump of fur crawls onto
the warm bed for the night.
We wake to a full house—
three cats o'er two humans.

F.I. Goldhaber

F.I. GOLDHABER lives in the Pacific Northwest and shares their bed and their dreams with three mostly black cats, pinned under the blankets in service to feline comfort. Their sleep is regularly interrupted by howls of a crinkle-ball hunting kitten, the frequent sudden and immediate need for scratches, and freight-train level purring.
